2017 Minnesota Olin Family Reunion

June 25, 2017 - 10:30 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Minnehaha Falls, Minneapolis

Along with Excelsior Amusement Park and Como Park Zoo, many a picnic was spent at Minnehaha Falls for most branches of the Olin family in Minnesota. In the old days, the family would take the trolley there. As always, the 2017 Olin Reunion in Minnesota is open to any related Olins. Although most details are yet to be sorted out, here is a little information on the Park Shelter and proposed plans:

Wabun D picnic shelter holds 252 people. It provides electricity, electric receptacles, and 2 large group size outdoor grills, nearby restrooms, and water jug filler. There are 5 parking areas convenient to the shelter. There is a nearby wading pool (bring swimsuits for the kids), large play area, and a disc golf course.

In addition, the Falls is a short walk from the picnic area and there are beautiful gardens and trails that go down to the Mississippi river. You should bring sensible shoes if you plan to hike on the trails. Also, you can rent family bikes with 4/5 seats. Note that there are 3 historical buildings onsite that you can tour.

Some of the activities we are looking at (subject to change) are disc golf competitions, ice breakers, and a history and family line display.

Marlene and Mark Slettehaugh (granddaughter of Rena Olin Andler) are graciously hosting a dinner the evening before the reunion in Minneapolis. More info to come.
