

For Stewing Tomatoes.

When stewing fresh tomatoes, start first with the melting of a tablespoon of butter into which you put a tablespoon of flour; mix to a smooth paste, then add the peeled and sliced fresh tomatoes and seasoning. Cook slowly, stirring often until the thickening and the vegetable juices are smooth. This gives a smoother, richer result.