

Maple Cinnamon Toast.

DEAR FORUM: The many people who like cinnamon toast will be glad to know about this improvement with maple sugar:

Maple-cinnamon toast is delicious and is slightly different from the cinnamon toast usually served. Mix soft maple sugar with enough butter to make a light cream. Spread on thin toast fingers, sprinkle with cinnamon and serve at once. Or do it this way: spread small slices of white bread with butter, cover with soft maple sugar mixed with a little thick cream. Sprinkle with cinnamon and toast under the broiler. Raisin or date bread may be used for this purpose occasionally. Be sure that the bread is thin and the sugar softened with butter or cream.

MISS SEVENTEEN.

Earl street,